Hi CJ kids families!

We're so glad that you're here - because it means that you value talking to your kids and want to make the most of your time together! WAY TO GO KINGDOM BUILDING GROWN UPS!

Did you know that there are approximately 936 weeks from the time a baby is born until they grow up and move to whatever is next - as adults? At every birthday, you get 52 weeks of influence. We don't want to scare you with these stats but we believe that in most cases, when we see how much time we have left we tend to do more with the time we have now!

There are four important things to remember when cultivating the kind of relationship where your kids are constantly inspired to thrive and grow into the calling on their lives (placed there) by God himself.

"For I know the plans I have for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future" (Jeremiah 29:11).

Your kids need you to:

- Embrace their physical needs
- Engage their interests
- Affirm their personal journey
- Mobilize their potential

Every age and stage in a kid's life is important and there is a way to shape your conversations toward meeting those needs for each of these ages and stages. Each stage lays a foundation for what's coming next. Kids need to build trusting relationships with the adults that know them, love them and agree with the plans God has in that verse from the book of Jeremiah. Building block #1: Meaningful conversations.

Tips to start meaningful conversations with your kids:

Choose a time when you can give them your full attention

Riding together in the car, bath time, gathered around the dinner table or bed time are some good options to be available

Be consistent

A meaningful conversation is an opportunity. It can become a vulnerable space. Making time for these conversations on a regular basis shows that you value your kids and the time you spend with them

Pray

Before or after your conversations, invite God to abide in the space of this moment and trust the leading of His spirit to provide the words you speak and an open heart that you need

P.S. This is not going to be easy, but our hope is that you will see that it's worth it! We're here to support you and cheer you on! You have been specifically invited by God to parent this kid, made uniquely in the image of God and you can do this!

Here's what's inside

We have put together questions to serve as possible conversation starters with your kids based on their specific age and stage of development. Different needs are met at different times in a kid's life journey. Those needs are directly correlated with their personal faith journey. The more they talk about and learn about God, the more they will learn about themselves and how they fit into this great big world He made!

Making the most of the “Look at me!” & Do I have your attention?” phase

The phase when unfiltered words make you laugh, school drop-off makes you cry, and life becomes a stage where your kid shouts, “Look at me!”

- Do you know that Jesus loves you MORE than anything in the world?
- Are you worried or upset? Will you draw a picture of what is making you feel that way, and then show me?
- I can't fix everything for you all the time, but do you know that I'm always here to listen?
- Sometimes, scary things happen in our world, but do you know that God is always with you? Do you know that you can talk to Him anytime you want?
- What do you want me to know, that you learned about at church today?
- This is what I'm feeling right now, how are you doing?
- If you could ask God anything, what would you ask Him?
- What's your favorite question to be asked?
- Do you need God's help with anything today?
- Who do you see everyday that needs to have a friend like Jesus? How can you be that?

Making the most of the “Sounds like fun! & Do I have what it takes?” phase

The phase when fairness matters most, differences get noticed, and your enthusiastic kid thinks anything “sounds like fun!”

- Do you think your friends would have fun if they came to church like you?
- Have you ever thought about inviting them to come to church with you?
- Will you give a name of the worry that is floating around in your brain?
- What’s one thought you keep having over and over again? (Good or bad)
- How can I help the next time you feel nervous?
- Sometimes I worry about little things just as much as big things. Are there any little things on your mind that you want to talk about?
- Do you pray by yourself?
- Do you ever feel like you have questions when you pray/talk to God? Do you ever ask Him?
- How do you decide if someone is a good friend?
- What’s cool about meeting someone from a different country?

Making the most of the “I’ve got this! & Do I have friends?” phase

The phase when friends are best friends, games are for competition, and your confident kid will insist, “I’ve got this.”

- What is the name of your favorite friend from school/church? What do you like about them?
- What’s one person (it could be a kid or an adult) that you wish came to church with us on Sundays?
- Do you think we should invite them to come? Would you like to do that yourself?
- What’s taking up the most space in your brain today?
- Do you ever worry about stuff? Even little things?
- (Follow up) What is the worry telling you?
- Is the worry telling you the truth?
- Is there anyone at school or at church who gives you a hard time? Anybody who makes you uncomfortable?
- We live in a world where some pretty scary things happen. Do any of those ever worry you?
- How do you let things go when they are out of your control? How do you decide what is in your control and what is not?

In some situations, the wisest choice is to consult with your pediatrician or a licensed counselor. Seeking professional help isn't a sign of failure as a parent. Being a good parent doesn't mean you are the source of everything your child needs, but it does mean that you reach out when you realize a situation is beyond your resources.
